Latin

Deorum lingua est lingua Graecorum

Marcus Tullius Cicero (106 b.c. – 43 b.c.)

Nihil Graeciae humanum, nihil sanctum

Quintus Horatius Flaccus (65 b.c. – 8 b.c.)

Though Greece was conquered, she defeated the conqueror and imported the arts in the uncivilized Latium

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe (1749-1832)

What the mind and the heart is for a human being, Greece is for humanity

Johann Christoph Friedrich von Schiller (1759-1805)

Damned Greek, you found everything; philosophy, geometry, physics, astronomy... you left nothing for us

William Cullen Bryant (1794-1878)

Greece was the real cradle of liberty in which the earliest republics were rocked. We are the pupils of the great men, in all the principles of science, of morals, and of good government

George Bernard Shaw (1794-1878)

If in the library of your house you do not have the works of the ancient Greek writers, then you live in a house with no light

Helen Adams Keller (1880-1968)

If it is true that the violin is the most perfect of musical instruments, then Greek is the violin of human thought

Johann Joachim Winckelmann (1717-1768)

The only way for us to become great, or even inimitable if possible, is to imitate the Greeks

Ibn Khaldun (1332-1406)

We have to admit that the whole Islam, except the religion, was Greek.
Betrayal against the Greeks by the Islamic nations, equals betrayal against their own nature

Sir Henry James Sumner Maine (1822-1888)

Except the blind forces of nature, nothing moves in this world which is not Greek in its origin

Wilhelm Von Humboldt (1767-1835)

In the Greeks alone we find the idea of that which we would like to be and produce... from the Greeks we take something more than earthly – almost godlike

Victor Hugo (1802-1855)

It is great to descent from Greece, the land that gave the light to the world

Frederich II (1712-1786)

We are children of the Greeks
